

chanel flap bag with top handle

uk and their Excel database that contains statistical details from football matches in more than 20 top European leagues!

Over the years I have been using those data, I would parse the desired output each time I wanted to see some statistics; I have decided to wrap up all those tables together in a Workbook, and publish it as an extension to Football-Data.

php

Please note: sequence of opening the files is important you need to open Football-Data database first, and then Betting-Data workbook; otherwise, you will probably receive "REF" error.

If you have any issues, please consult F.

php?t=150080

This link here says that issue might disappear if you save the workbook as Macro