Here are the bet and money percentages for the National Championship game between Georgia and TCU:

All odds and data from DraftKings Sportsbook on January 9th, 2023.

Money percentages or percent of the handle refers to the total amount of money wagered on an event, often broken down by bet type.

Tickets are just a term used for all the bets placed.

For example, if Alabama has 78% of the tickets bet against the spread, but only has 50% of the money, we now know the bets being placed on Alabama are quite small or the bets being placed on Ole Miss are quite large.

What is public betting on college football? Public betting refers to the amount of money (and number of wagers) the public has placed on each team (and each game) Tj T* the home or road team against the spread, it indicates that the public and the oddsmakers disagree on what the spread should be.

What percentage of college football teams cover the spread? As with ATS betting in any two-team sport, 50% of teams cover and 50% of teams lose ATS (excluding push) Tj T*
