Bet The Responsible Way.

Senators voted 30-26 in favor of Senate Resolution 140, but failed to reach the required two-thirds majority of 38.

Others argued Georgia lawmakers could legalize wagering on sports outright, without requiring a constitutional amendment.

Proponents say voters already amended the constitution to allow a form of gambling when they approved the Georgia Lottery decades ago.

Other lawmakers want to legalize casino gambling or betting on horse races.

"Sports betting creates five jobs.

It's all run through this mobile app, whereas horse racing and casinos create thousands of jobs, both in construction and long-term," said Sen.

Because some Republican oppose sports betting on moral grounds, any bill was likely to need Democratic support.

House and Senate Democrats lined up behind the constitutional amendment approach because it would allow the possibility of expanding how any related revenue could be spent.
