I'm not sure if you can find them in a very well made fashion.

New Jersey spearheaded the PASPA takedown, starting in 2009 when Senator Raymond Lesniak filed a lawsuit that PASPA was discriminatory against the 46 states that didn't get the option to be grandfathered in.

State officials are looking at accessibility and how the sports betting tax revenue can work for their government - many are seeing great value in having legalized sports betting, earning millions in their first year.

States With Legal Sports Betting in the USA

Arkansas
Awkward timing got Illinois, the 15th state to legalize sports betting off to a rocky start - with a pandemic starting one week after they launched their retail sportsbooks.

The first bets were placed at Rivers Casino in March 2020, and days later, much of the United States was shut down due to COVID-19. Indiana Pennsylvania launched sports betting in August 2018, not long after the PASPA overruling.

Not all sportsbooks are the same though, so some are definitely better than others.

Don't let that scare you though, the top online sportsbooks are totally legit, safe and trustworthy, and many who actually live in states with legal sports betting use offshore books anyway - because they are so much more convenient and useful in the long run.
