The 6-3 ruling is a victory for New Jersey and other states who have considered allowing sports gambling as a way to encourage tourism and tax revenue.

“Congress can regulate sports gambling directly, but if it elects not to do so, each state is free to act on its own.”

Monday, the Supreme Court agreed.

They said in court briefs that if the high court sided with the sporting leagues, “Congress could compel the entire machinery of state government—legislatures, executives and courts—to maintain and enforce repealed state laws at the behest of the federal government.”

They argued that a state law legalizing sports betting is preempted by existing federal law.

“New Jersey’s real complaint is that Congress has forbidden it from enacting the specific policy it prefers—namely, state sports gambling at its state-licensed casinos and race tracks,” wrote Paul D.
