2. Now that I have officially claimed my business page, what should I do to encourage positive reviews?

If this does not work out, you should respond publicly, in a level headed fashion.

Yelpers are likely to read both the negative review AND the merchant's response before making up their mind. By explaining the situation and how you have dealt with this privately, you can make the situation work in your favor by showing that you do care about your customers.

FUN FACT: About 22% of "biased" reviews are filtered into "not recommended." What does Yelp consider a biased review? Reviews from Yelpers with little activity, reviews from the same computer, and reviews that are too extreme on either end of the spectrum. Sound unreliable? Many legitimate reviews do end up hidden for this very reason.

5. Now for the big question: I'm done with all of the free options on Yelp and I'm ready to do more. Is Yelp worth my marketing dollars?

With this information at hand, hopefully you now have a much better understanding of how Yelp works for small business owners and can make a decision that is right for you!

FUN FACT: Whether or not you decide to go with advertising, keep a sharp eye on your store rating. According to this Harvard Business School case study, every star in a review leads to a 5-9% difference in revenue. That's a lot of money lost on one little star.

Only a few iGaming brands have a license from Jamaica's authorities. Like in most other countries, people who want to bet online usually pick offshore online bookmakers or casinos.
